First of all, experience is, a collection of everything that happens to a person in her life and that she is conscious; people can have experience about themselves, their abilities, their virtues and vices, and people can also have experience and ideas, ideas and knowledge. So I'm open to people if they are ready for it, to knowledge, experience and everything new that makes the world a better one.
I strive for excellence, critical thinking, versatility in their interests. I am interested in the latest technologies, in particular in the field of information technology, as well as software optimization and participation in its development. Motivation by the challengei and non-standard tasks. Why in IT, is because modern life can not be imagined without the latest technology and self-improvement.
